Hi Elliott,

David McGuinty just reached out to me (through Steve) and sent me the attached. It's a company out of Toronto that is interested in helping making a test for COVID-19. I gave him the buyandsell.ca website, but he wants to move this up the chain quickly to see if this is something that can be done. Should I share it further, or tell him that all procurement needs to go through the website and there's no quick way to get through.
