Hi Dove

Steven Page sent me your info and I just wanted to reach out and let you know that I will have information to you today or early tomorrow with the information you require on protective equipment as well as thermometers and potentially kits with FDA and ICF certifications.

I just wanted to send you an email to open the line of communication so that once we are confirmed we are already in conversation.

I will have certifications, delivery times and quantities with cost available to you momentarily. The only thing is quantities seems to change, but we are manufacturing so once we start we will be able to get into a regular delivery schedule.

I hope this email finds you well and safe.
