Hi there – a few things from Matt:

- Let's leave out Spartan for now given some details still need to be sorted & their delivery timeline isn't very rapid
- Suggest we leave out the stuff on the Cdn ventilators because ppl already think it is happening
- We're still trying to get confirmation about the # of N95 masks that went to P/Ts last week VS the number that we expect to go out this week from HC & PSPC
 - o Sounds like it is actually 1.12 million N95s last week & 600k N95s this week (with potentially more)
- Also still trying to get confirmation from HC about whether 6.5 gloves actually arrived today
- Need to make a distinction that one of the 3 Air Canada 777s that arrived this weekend were full of PPE that QC had ordered independently of us (we helped them get their stuff into Canada, but the plane had no fed equipment)

Here's the updated list:

Over the weekend, we received four shipments of critical supplies from China:

- On Saturday, April 11, a CargoJet Boeing 767 arrived in Hamilton, with N95 respirators on board, along with PPE for Quebec.
- On Sunday, April 12, three Air Canada Boeing 777 arrived (two in Toronto, one in Montreal) with more N95 respirators. One of the three planes had materials filled with QC's orders made independently of us. We just filled our plane with their stuff to help them get it across the ocean.
- The Public Health Agency of Canada is working quickly to unpack, validate and test these supplies so they can begin shipping to provinces and territories.

Notable contracts over the weekend:

- ~~We finalized three contracts with domestic manufacturers CAE, Canadian Emergency Ventilators (Starfish) and FTI Professional Grade (Ventilators for Canadians) to produce 10,000 ventilators each (30,000 total) with deliveries beginning in May.~~
- ~~We also now have a manufacturer for Art Macdonald's ventilator design & an LOI in place~~
 - o ~~We're moving into the negotiation of this contract now~~
- We finalized a contract with Irving Oil to provide 300,000 litres of made-in-Canada hand sanitizer, with deliveries starting later this week

Other good things we can say:

- TBC: Last week, we shipped more than 1.62 N95 masks to provinces
- TBC: This week, we have 600k N95s that will be going to P/Ts (not including potential new additions post-testing & new plane arrivals)
- TBC: Today we received 6.5 million pairs of gloves
- More flights are leaving this week to pick up more supplies
- Canada Goose contract has them delivering 30k gowns starting the week of April 20th (next week)
 - o This is one of three domestic supplier contracts for gowns that have now been signed & are in place
 - o The three contracts together will deliver over 7 million gowns in total
- ~~Spartan Bioscience Inc. received Health Canada approval this weekend for its Spartan COVID-19 System point of care test technology, which will help to diagnose COVID-19 in less than an hour and without having to send a sample to the lab~~
- Cardinal Canada (a subsidiary of Cardinal in the US), will be delivering 414,000 swabs in batches
 - o Ground shipment of swabs to be delivered starting tomorrow

Hi there – this is what we’ve got.

Will leave it to Matt to decide which ones are mission critical to include / which ones we may not want to include. I think they’re all pretty great. ☺

Ok great. Thanks Emily. Someone on the 4C just now said they’d follow up with info on the 6.5 million pairs of gloves that we apparently received today. If you hear any info about those – pls let us know.

Otherwise, this is what we’ve got (not necessarily all going to be included but just sharin’):

Here is an update from PSPC - noting that deliveries to PTs are a PHAC lead so we don't have those answers:

Over the weekend, we received four shipments of critical supplies from China:

- On Saturday, April 11, a CargoJet Boeing 767 arrived in Hamilton, with approximately 1.6-1.7 million N95 respirators on board, along with PPE for Quebec.
- On Sunday, April 12, three Air Canada Boeing 777 arrived (two in Toronto, one in Montreal) with approximately 800,000 N95 respirators, plus large amounts of PPE for Quebec.
- The Public Health Agency of Canada is working quickly to unpack, validate and test these supplies so they can begin shipping to provinces and territories.

A few notable contracts awarded over the weekend, too:

- We finalized three contracts with domestic manufacturers CAE, Canadian Emergency Ventilators (Starfish) and FTI Professional Grade (Ventilators for Canadians) to produce 10,000 ventilators each (30,000 total) with deliveries beginning in May. (PM Mentioned last week we were working to secure these contracts)

· We finalized a contract with Irving Oil to provide 300,000 litres of made-in-Canada hand sanitizer, with deliveries starting later this week (Irving also referenced in previous PM remarks re Canadian industry support for COVID-19)

Note we have prepared a speech module and social media for the Irving contract, should there be interest to include.

Confirming approval for Spartan went Saturday, and wouldn't have any concerns re inclusion.

Our Dept and implicated departments have already done some light-touch social media, with the company pushing out the news as well.

Hi Sabrina,

From ISED, we're comfortable with both Canada Goose and Spartan.

I defer to HC and PSPC colleagues on the details as they led on the Spartan approval and the final terms with Canada Goose. But I believe Spartan received the approval on Sat Apr 11, and the Canada Goose numbers and late line up with the last I've seen.

Marco

Subject: PM remarks tomorrow: procurement updates

Hi team,

We're looking to include some positive updates on procurement arrivals in the PM's remarks tomorrow morning.

We understand there were 3 cargo flights from Cargojet and Air Canada, plus one Air Canada flight exclusively for the province of Quebec. Do you guys have a sense of what is on board & what we're comfortable with saying tomorrow in the remarks?

This is what I have from PCO this morning:

- An additional 294,000 surgical masks arrived at Canadian warehouses yesterday. These will be tested before being sent out to provinces and territories.

And this is what we have from our 4Cs:

- Cargo jet landed on the evening of April 9th with 1.6 – 1.7 million N95 masks; was also topped up with QC PPE & products will be sent for testing.

- Three Air Canada 777s arriving (stated on April 9th) – one in Mtl and two at Pearson. The one in MTL has QC PPE only. The ones at Pearson will include 785k N95s.
- On April 9th, someone said this: “In the last week – we would have shipped more than 1.62 3M N95s to provinces”.
 - o Should we reference this?

Perhaps less urgent but if you have any info on the following positive things below from your officials & think it might be wise to include a reference to them in one of the updates – pls let us know!

- PCO this AM said that two companies have received necessary approvals on April 11 to move forward on their proposals re 3D print swabs:
 - o One to advance the opportunity to scale capacity from 800,000 tests per month to 1,200,000 tests per month by July, 2020 (HC approved)
 - o Another to produce 3D printed Swabs. The requisition and purchase order is in progress (HC and PHAC approved)
- On April 9th, folks said the Canada Goose contract has them delivering 30k gowns starting the week of April 20th (next week)
 - o Is that right?
- Also from PCO this AM “Spartan Bioscience Inc. received Health Canada approval for its Spartan COVID-19 System point of care test technology, which will help to diagnose COVID-19 in less than an hour and without having to send a sample to the lab.”
 - o Do you know on what day this happened / would it be wise to include?

On swabs, we’ve received this from GAC this morn:

- Cardinal Canada (a subsidiary of Cardinal in the US), will be delivering 414,000 swabs in batches starting today.
- Copan has 40,000 swabs in a warehouse in Montreal that GAC facilitated clearance of this morning and these are destined for provincial customers (primarily for Ontario) and an additional 70k swabs are scheduled for arrival on Thurs.
