The latest:

"The Department has confirmed that information the Department had requested from the manufacturer on Aug 25 with regards to the Nasopharyngeal Swab was received by the Department on Sept 1, the application is under review.

We've followed up with regards to the update for the thermometer component application, and will advise asap if there are any expected delays."

Hey Elizabeth- any update back from the dept on the health Canada approval of the swabs they are creating ? We would need to know ASAP if there are any issues.

Thanks again!
