Thanks for this James. We'll do a review of the French and promise not to add anything...with fresh eyes on it, we can perhaps suggest some cuts if you'd like.

Hi there,

There has been some back-and-forth with the Min over the weekend about her remarks.

Attached is the latest version.

As you will see, a great deal of style changes – but I don't believe anything of substance has been added that needs fact checking.

The French could use a look-over, svp.

We really need to cut these down – so please don't add anything...

Thanks!

James

Hi James, Cecely,

Hope you were able to enjoy the weekend. Bryan is working on validating questions received earlier and would like to line up the team to support validation, reworking of text and/or translation. Do you have a sense of why you'll need and if it will come later this evening or tomorrow?

Thanks!

Bonjour James,

I would like to plan what support you will need from us today, especially for translation and speechwriting services. Are you able to tell us, at this time, if you made minor or substantial changes to Minister Anand's remarks, and if you added new content that would need validating?

Regards,

Lucie Brosseau
