Hi Frank,

Thought I would pass this on. The 3D printing company that we are investors in (and close to management) has passed FDA approval for swabs, they can print 10's of millions a week though their network of printers.

These printers are in 13 countries including Canada. They also print face shields. See below a article Forbes just did.

If introductions can be made to help please let me know/ please this on. I introduced them to them national association of counties in the US who are in short supply of swabs as well as Pelosi's office both were looking for swabs.

The swabs were FDA approved yesterday and they signed a big contract with FEMA today. They are NOT looking to take advantage of this.
