Great thanks. That aligns with what we were all thinking. But he wanted to make sure that conversations with suppliers were including a long range timeline that could include exports. He feels like it's a way to ensure longer term jobs and also help our partners. Just wanted to pass that along as he raised it both yesterday and today :) thanks!

FYI in case this gets raised again.

Need to first figure out what our urgent needs are in healthcare & grocery stores etc. within Canada before we can get to goal three.

Goal one – get what we need for our healthcare workers
Goal two – supply Canadian industry
Goal three – help outside Canada

Would be my approach.

Happy to! Also – on a related note (and perhaps this is what the brainstorm is about) – PM was asking folks this morning if there's a way our re-tooling efforts can not only help with domestic supply, but also supply around the world.
