Bauer just came to say they're ok with the number going out. So 1 million.

Just flagging this will open a door on numbers that is going to be challenging moving forward.

Our approach has not been to speak to specific contract amounts (too much volatility in the supply chain and many suppliers say they are at a high risk of getting scooped on their supplies if we go public). If we start giving out details on a contract here and there, my team is going to be flooded with angry reporters who have so far been relatively patient with us.
