Flagging the below as potential supplier. Not sure if you folks do proactive outreach but thought I would send along.

Hi Travis,

I thought I'd share with you that I was contacted this morning by the Belgian consulate in Montreal who is trying to source PPE supplies. I used to work in the medical device industry and I was posted in Belgium for several years so they thought I might have some contacts that could help them supply goods (I do not). I guess there's a wild chase for supplies right now.

He told me a Quebec firm, Groupe VSLG was ordering large supplies from Asia- but you probably have that information already. The contact for this group is :
