Hi - As you can see below, I already sent this to Marieke.

I was passing this on if possible to use for the Brian Mills, Global News request.

Hi Cecely,

I will send the below to Marieke Walsh (G&M) and attribute the quote to MinO.

There's also a statement in approval for Brian Hill (Global News). Should this response replace the statement currently in approval?

To be clear, we have not suspended our ordering. So far for the month of May, we have placed orders for approximately 6.5 million masks from a range of suppliers.

In partnership with the Public Health Agency of Canada alongside provinces and territories, we are continuing to place bulk orders for PPE and medical supplies in anticipation of short term and long term needs. This has been our approach from the outset. As we continue to build up and strengthen Canada's supply chains for essential items like masks and gowns, we continue to see deliveries arriving from manufacturers internationally and domestically at a consistent pace.

In particular, over the last two months, we established an A to Z procurement approach to bring in goods from international manufacturers. This approach includes navigating the complex supply chain environment and ensuring that Canada's demands for these lifesaving supplies are met. Canada has received 37 plane loads of PPE and medical supplies to date. In addition, domestic manufacturing has ramped up with deliveries of face shields, hand sanitizer and gowns already underway.

Sorry I meant to say Global News request! If it's possible to integrate this into the proposed response for Global along with the response to their second question relating to Committee.

Thanks,

Hi Cecely,

Thank you for this. I'm not sure we replied to your email (I was off for some time this afternoon).

Will you deliver this to other reporters as well (both G&M reporters)?

Merci!

Hi there,

Please see below our response.

“As Canadians go back to work and the economy restarts, our strategy remains the same: to buy PPE proactively in a highly competitive market. Our approach in contracting, both domestically and internationally, is to ensure that we have procured a steady supply of goods for frontline healthcare workers in the short and long term. As demand is going up, Canada is keeping up.”

Hey guys

I thought I had asked about this on Friday but looks like I didn't. Can you please tell me why Deloitte told a potential supplier that there was a pause on purchasing on April 29 and that that purchase suspension continued into May. Can you tell me why there was a suspension on most PPE purchasing? My deadline is tomorrow at noon.

Thanks,
Marieke
