Chelsea, good morning – I am just glad to know that you are okay. We’ve never met (in these days of C19, that seems to be the usual) but you struck me as dedicated and efficient and I greatly revere those qualities, so I was concerned when I didn’t hear from you.

Have a great weekend. And I am so reassured (sic) to know that The Donald will not close the USA down in the event of a 2nd wave – he doesn’t have to worry about a 2nd wave because, with what he and his cronies are doing, the 1st wave will never leave 😊

Take care,

Bennett

Hi Bennett,

Sorry for the delay in getting back to you.

I have passed along your email to my colleagues in the department. They will reach out to you to follow up.

Let me know if you need anything else.

Best,

Chelsea

Good morning – I hope that you had a nice holiday weekend.

I am sure that by now you shudder every time you see my name on your in-bound queue...then again, you probably shudder every time you see a news article about the problems with the purchasing of face masks.

Look, you are a Canadian and I am a Canadian and people are getting sick – it's not just defective masks or lack of masks, it's also the false sense of security that comes with using a mask that the user doesn't know is defective. Putting it succinctly, I understand the problems and I also understand how those translated into mistakes, the results of which are self-evident. It goes without saying that, if those orders had been awarded to me to fulfill, none of these messes would have occurred – at this point, as a concerned citizen, I just want to see them rectified, whether I get an order or not.

I know that Bill Mathews heads the Department but I doubt that he is the primary decision-maker – is there someone that you could refer me to who might benefit from my 30 years of experience in China?

Have a good day and stay safe,

Bennett
