Hi David,

Can you pass this along to Alain to follow up with?

Thank you!

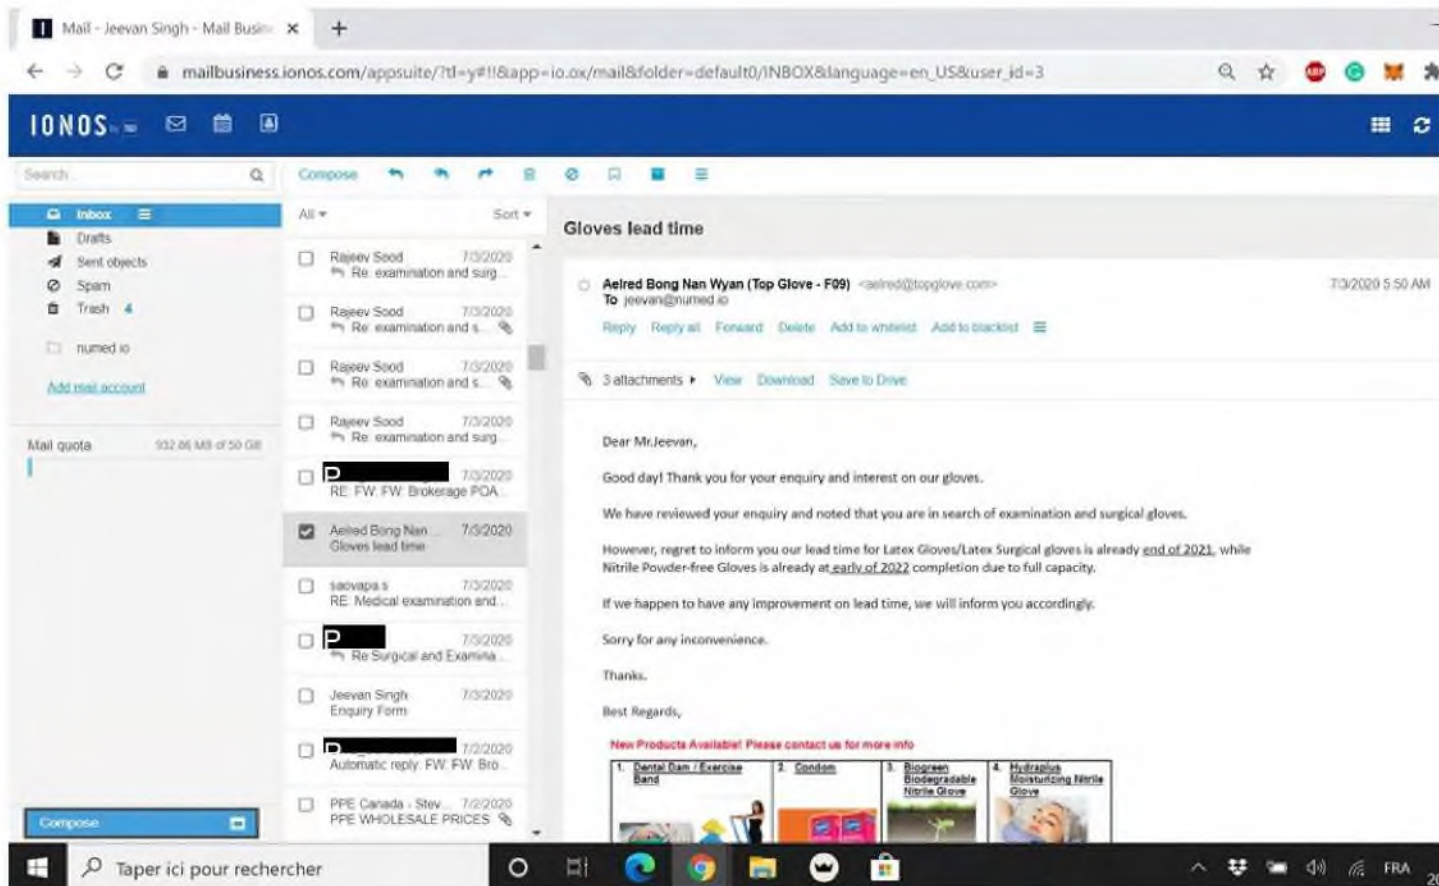

Chelsea

Subject: Procurement Follow up

Hi Chelsea,

I think you saw my email to Alain this morning. I am really getting at the end of my rope here, I have never been this frustrated in any deal and I have done high 9 figures worth of them. It is particularly irritating because I have seen procurement give out contracts to vendors in less than a week. I got those contracts directly from the vendors that procurement is working with. Those contracts are non-performing, have been for months while real vendors like me are just waiting around like idiots. I would like to get other people from your office involved at this point.

There is a global shortage of PPE going on right now, here is an example for gloves from the largest manufacturer in the world:

Please advise on how best to move forward.

Best Regards,

Jeevan Singh
